

Erectifier Manual

Intro

A little while ago, we, Rusty Trombone of very little fame discussed how to get our music better (specifically the singing) and also how to get more ppl to notice us. So we commissioned this little VST from world famous VST developer www.shuriken.se, to give away for free, as marketing. Yeah, baby, for free, as marketing. Hopefully this will be as awesome for us as it is for you. Let us warn you though, we seldom read manuals, and we've never written anything like this. Anyways if you could listen a little to our music, tip a few friends of our music, be our friend at myspace, that would be awesome. please, we are begging, our knees are bleeding. puhlease.

What does what

So this works as a doubler, or demented phaser, it is designed to widen and phatten. Ofcourse you can misuse that aswell. you have an LFO that controls how long back an echo is. You can set the length and speed of this LFO. Then there is a filter that can be LowPass, HighPass or Allpass, and a cut Hz so that you can control where the cut is. oh-yeah!. The distortion is to gritt up the sound a little, or a lot, it's not the worlds bestest distortion. Then you can amplify the signal, if you want to. The filter can cut away a lot of the volume, that's why we have it. Then finally there is a on/off. There are two to the left side and two on the right side. and finally one dry through parameter. So if you'd like to test one of your settings, turn the other three off (via on/off parameter) and then tweak away, baby. There are a few presets (yeah, we didnt feel like making a lot of them, so we forced that shuriken.se guy to make a random-function and make a lot of presets there).

License

Ok, so this is free, you can use it on your tracks. It would be cool if you told us about it though. And it would be even cooler if you spread the word of Rusty Trombone. We dont take any responsibility for anything that this software might cause (unless it's good). Blah, blah, blah blah. Blbah blah blah. Oh yeah, if you want to put this plugin on a magazine coverdisc or something like that, it would be cool if you sent us an email and told us about it. A copy of the mag would be awesome.
